What is Community Supported Agriculture?

A CSA is a way to reconnect families and individuals with farms in their local communities. CSA members support the farmers by buying a share of the year's harvest. Members pay for their shares in advance, providing capital for operating expenses such as seeds, compost, utilities, greenhouse supplies, etc. When the harvest starts in May-June, the members come to the farm once a week to pick up their share. Members become very connected to "their" farm, eating seasonally and seeing how weather affects the crops. An early fall frost may kill the tomato vine, but drive the sugar down deep into the fall carrots.

Sustainable Agriculture Practices.

We do not use pesticides, chemical herbicides or fertilizers. Much deeper than just the issues addressed by Organic farming we must use our water, energy, farm resources efficiently to stay viable.

Benefits to our Members:

- Freshly picked, delicious, chemical free vegetables.
- Try new recipes and new varieties - such as heirlooms
- Family-friendly on-farm adventures
  - a) Family picking areas
  - b) Access to farm animals
  - c) Farm Celebration Days

Where will we get our share?

Unless you have a delivery set up - you will come to the farm to pick up your share every week. In the event that you can't pick up your share, you may designate someone else to pick it up for you or pick it up and use it themselves. You can give them a taste of what it's like to participate in the CSA. If your share is not picked up - it will go to the local shelter or food pantry at our discretion.
